Editorial Review

Review

From the reviews:

"The extensive book ... is based on a study by the Institute for Environmental Research of the University of Dortmund It gives an extensive overview of environmentally relevant data through the entire textile pipeline, in which over 2,500 chemicals are initiated worldwide. ... The book is supplemented by an alphabetical list of textile chemicals, the eco-labels and their scope of testing, as well as an extensive table of textile chemicals ... their function in the textile process, their application and further references."
